

Exotic, Bold and Practical

art@huber

The right bath for every situation. Sometimes it seems as if switching over from too small baths in compact thermostats is as difficult as operating a canal lift. The exotically built Variostat is the only conventional bath thermostat where the bath is not a fixed feature so the bath can be selected according to your requirements. Because the Variostat is a link between the various Huber products - and because it has a unique concept that competitors try to pretend does not exist- it seems more than likely that the Tango and the Unistat will be called in when more power is necessary whereas the Variostat will remain the expert of flexibility for less demanding processes in any kind of baths.
